

DUDLER CASE ON TRIAL.

Question of the City's Right to Waters in Parley's Creek.

Supreme Court Decision in the Case of Pickard vs. Williams-Boggs Estate Matters.

The $20,000 damage suit of Salt Lake City against Susan Dudler et al came on for trial before Judge Hiles this afternoon.

This is the case wherein the city seeks to recover possession of a portion of the canal in Parley's canyon, the waters of which the defendants are said to have unlawfully diverted. It will be remembered that last September the city and the Dudlers became involved in a dispute necessitating the sending up of thirty men to dispossess the latter. Finally the city secured a restraining order, and the hearing now on is to determine the merits of the case.
